Additional Information for EU/EEA Users of this Website

Tupperware is committed in EU/EEA countries to EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) compliance. Please find the contact details for your local Data Protection Organization on the Tupperware Website for your EU/EEA country. The Data Protection Officer for EU/EEA countries can be contacted at dpo@tupperware.com.

The categories of personal data collected may include e-mail address, first name and last name, phone number, address, IP address and usage data as described below.

1. Processing purposes and legal bases

We process your personal data on the basis of your consent - Article 6 clause 1 lit. a) of the GDPR - to the extent described in this consent and for the processing purposes described therein, for example, subscription to our newsletter.

With respect to the processing of personal data required for the performance of a contract to which the data subject is a party, the legal basis is provided by Article 6 clause 1 lit. b) of the GDPR. This also applies to processing operations required in order to carry out a pre-contractual action, for example, for the presentation of this Website, conducting competitions or sweepstakes.

We process your personal data in order to safeguard our legitimate interests, in particular to provide and maintain our IT infrastructure, to guarantee satisfactory customer communication and to promote the sale of our products (Art. 6 clause 1 lit. f) of the GDPR), for example, for conducting market research activities, processing your contact inquiry, and to protect against fraud and abuse.

In exceptional cases, we may also use your data for the fulfilment of a legal obligation (Art. 6 clause 1 lit. c) of the GDPR), to safeguard vital interests (Art. 6 clause 1 lit. d) of the GDPR), or to perform a task in the public interest (Art. 6 clause 1 lit. e) of the GDPR).

2. Disclosure of data

We may share your personal information in the following situations:

Data transfer to processors

We rely on contracted external service providers ("processors") to provide the services. In such cases, personal data will be shared with these processors to process it further. These processors are carefully selected and regularly reviewed by us to ensure your privacy is protected. Processors may only use the data for the purposes we have specified and will also be contractually obliged by us to treat your data solely in accordance with this Privacy Policy (as it applies to EU/EEA users of this Website) and the applicable data protection laws.

Data transfer to Affiliates

We may share your information with our Affiliates in accordance with this Privacy Policy. Affiliates include any subsidiaries, joint-venture partners or other companies that we control or that are under common control with us.

Data transfer for business transactions

If the company is involved in a merger, acquisition or asset sale, your personal data may be transferred. We will provide notice before your personal data is transferred and becomes subject to a different Privacy Policy.

Other delegation of data

In addition, we will pass on your personal data without your consent only in legally permissible cases. Such data delegation may be legally permissible, in particular in the following cases, where:

- Processing is necessary for the fulfilment of a legal obligation or is in the legitimate interest of Tupperware, for example, due to corresponding requests for information from authorities;
- Processing is required to protect your vital interests or those of someone else;
- Processing is necessary for the performance of a task that is in the public interest or in the exercise of public authority delegated to Tupperware.

Data transfers to third countries

When choosing to submit your personal information to Tupperware through this Website, you agree that your personal information may be transferred out of the European Economic Area (“EEA”) for the purposes and functions described in this Privacy Policy, including to the United States and other jurisdictions that are not considered by the European Union and other EEA countries to provide adequate legal protection for personal data. In order to preserve your privacy rights in this respect, Tupperware will ensure that an appropriate safeguard or another GDPR-approved mechanism is in place before sending personal data of EU/EEA individuals outside of the EU/EEA in accordance with Art. 46 of the GDPR.

3. Data retention

We do not store your personal data any longer than necessary to achieve the respective purposes of the data processing set out in this Privacy Policy.

If you have concluded a contract with us or use our services, we process your data as long as it is necessary for the execution of the respective contract or the provision of the respective service, possibly plus the duration of any warranty or guarantee periods.

When using some applications on this Website, we may retain usage data for internal analysis purposes and backup copies for a very limited period of time for specific input, to strengthen the security for example. As soon as the related interest no longer exists (e.g. by eliminating the error), we also erase this data immediately afterwards.

4. Individual rights

The GDPR provides the following rights for individuals:

Right of access to personal data

You are entitled at any time, upon request, to receive for free at any time information from us regarding the personal data relating to you which we have processed within the scope of Art. 15 of the GDPR.

Right to rectification of personal data held where it is incorrect or incomplete

You have the right to request the immediate rectification of personal data concerning you if it is incorrect or incomplete, Art. 16 of the GDPR.

Right to erasure of personal data

You have the right request that we erase personal data concerning you, subject to the conditions described in Art. 17 of the GDPR. These conditions are present, in particular, if the respective processing purpose has been achieved or otherwise ceases to apply, and if we should process your data unlawfully; if you have revoked your consent, unless the data processing can be continued on another legal basis; if you successfully object to the data processing; and in cases of an erasure obligation under EU law or the law of an EU Member State to which we are subject.

Right to restriction of processing of personal data

You may, in accordance with Art. 18 of the GDPR, require us to process your personal data only to a limited extent. This right applies, in particular, if the accuracy of your personal data is disputed, if you request restricted processing instead of deletion under the conditions of a legitimate request for deletion, or if the data is no longer required for the purposes we are pursuing, but you require the data to assert, exercise or defend your legal rights.

Right to data portability

You are entitled, in accordance with Art. 20 of the GDPR, to receive from us the personal data concerning you which you have provided to us, in a structured, common, machine-readable format, and to communicate this data to another controller.

Right to object to processing

You have the right, for reasons of your own particular situation, to file an objection at any time to the processing of your personal data, which is done either in the public interest or in order to safeguard our legitimate interest. We will cease the processing of your personal data unless we can establish compelling legitimate grounds for processing that outweigh your interests, rights and freedoms, or the processing is for the purpose of enforcing, pursuing or defending legal claims.

If you object to the processing of your personal data for advertising purposes, we will cease this processing in any case.

Exercise of these rights

To exercise these rights and options, and for any questions relating to our personal information processing activities as described above, please contact us at the e-mail address stated in the local Tupperware Website for your EU/EEA country or at dpo@tupperware.com.

Right to withdraw consent

If you have given your consent for the processing of your personal data, you can revoke it at any time with effect for the future. For example, by your clicking on the 'Unsubscribe' link on the bottom of the respective newsletters, we will cease to process your personal data, unless we perform the respective data processing on a different legal basis (e.g. in order to be able to continue to fulfil contracts with you).

Right to complain to a supervisory authority

You also have the right to appeal to a supervisory authority in accordance with Art. 77 of the GDPR, in particular in your Member State of residence, employment or the place of the alleged breach, if you believe that the processing of your personal data infringes the GDPR.
